

Virginia Tech SigEp: Balanced Man Scholarship

Sigma Phi Epsilon is a national fraternity with the VA Kappa chapter residing at Virginia Tech. SigEp holds key principles of life in high esteem such as the ongoing pursuit of continual development and living a balanced life of not only a sound mind, but a sound body as well. The fraternity has maintained the goal of developing Balanced Men throughout their college experience by incorporating a diverse array of activities and experiences to enable each young man to grow in all aspects of life.

SigEp at Virginia Tech has come back to campus and just finished four semesters as a fraternity with renewed energy and purpose. The goals have been set high for the chapter to achieve excellence in all aspects of its conduct. With numerous leadership opportunities and one of the most influential alumni bases in the country, the chapter looks forward to growing and becoming one of the best student organizations on campus.

This Scholarship serves the purpose of rewarding young men who are currently embracing all of Sigma Phi Epsilon's ideals and working to become a well rounded and Balanced Man while working on leadership skills and becoming involved in as many ways as possible. Also, if you have interest in joining SigEp or would like to learn more information about us please let us know below in the application. There is no requirement of joining the fraternity in order to be awarded the scholarship, but we will be happy to talk with any applicants about joining and answer any questions they might have. If you have any questions about the scholarship or the fraternity, please don't hesitate to contact Zach Hecker, our Balanced Man Scholarship Chairman, by email at virginiatechbms@gmail.com or by phone at (703) 625-0635.
